QUESTION OF THE WEEK: SECOND READING: James 5:1-6 1. Wages withheld from the harvesters cry aloud to the Lord of hosts, James says. How does his message apply today to arguments for federal minimum wage hike or for buying Fair Trade coffee? Or beefing up laws that would end human trafficking?
 2. James says that the rich got their wealth at the expense of the poor. How would the harvesters in the reading feel this? How would humane treatment from the rich relate to a living wage? To profound respect? Anne Osdieck at St. Louis University.

TEENS ENCOUNTER CHRIST (TEC) TEC is a dynamic, life-giving experience in which a person is invited by the Risen Christ to open his/her heart in a personal way to the life of Christ. Reflectively, the participants come to see Christ's mystery relived in their own life through the struggles, joys and triumphs of daily life. The next TEC is at Blessed Sacrament Church in Grand Island, October 20-22, 2018. To learn more about this Diocesan program and register, go to www.gidiocese.org/vya/. The cost is $85 and the registration deadline is Oct. 12, 2018.
